Neenah — Daniel L. Kimberly, 74, Nicolet boulevard, died at 7 p.m. Saturday after a month's illness. He was chairman of the board of Harwood Products corporation which he helped found, and of which he was president for 24 years.

Born Feb. 7, 1885, the son of Daniel L. and Frances Hewitt Kimberly, he attended the Neenah public schools, Mohegan Lake, N.Y., preparatory school, Princeton university and the University of Wisconsin. He was a direct descendant of Harvey Latimer Kimberly, one of the early Neenah settlers.

He worked for a mining firm for a brief period after finishing school and in 1908 helped organize the Harwood Products corporation which took over a timber and veneer factory in Mississippi. With him in this venture were William T. Wing, C. B. Clark and E. D. Beals.

The Neenah plant was built in 1910 and Kimberly served

2 Rescued But 2 Men Die in Search

Tucson, Ariz. — A 4-day search that cost two lives ended with the rescue of two plane crash victims who survived a tortuous battle for life in the desert.

Lonnie Davison, 44, and R. V. Powell, 33, Tucson construction workers, were found in desolate south central Arizona yesterday. They were recovering in a Tucson hospital today.

Davison and Powell cheated the desert of death in a 5-day fight against starvation, heat and pain after being stranded in the barren wasteland when their light plane went down Wednesday.

Two civil air patrol fliers hunting the missing plane were killed Thursday when their plane struck powerlines and crashed near the Ray airport. They were William Rogers, 36, and George Shuler, 34, also of Tucson.

Hope for the missing men was fading yesterday when Davison, dehydrated and suffering a broken ankle and cracked vertebra, was found stumbling and crawling down a rocky gully near the small mining community of Kearney.

He directed searchers to the wreckage where Lowell lay with a broken arm, broken leg and possible chest injuries.

In the hospital today, Davison's condition was listed as good, that of Powell as poor.

West Patches Up Dispute on Negotiations With Russia

See No Great Reduction in Foreign Aid

2 Senators Think $3.5 Billion May Receive Approval

Washington — Two influential Democratic senators predicted today congress will make only moderate reductions in President Eisenhower's $3,930,000,000 foreign aid program.

Sens. Mike Mansfield (D-Mont) and John Sparkman (D-Ala) said they think the senate foreign relations committee, of which they are members, will approve an authorization of around $3 1/2 billion.

This amount looks like a target figure for action by the house foreign affairs committee, which will begin its item-by-item scanning of the mutual security bill Wednesday. The senate committee will not get to this phase until next week.

Small Reductions Sparkman said President Eisenhower, who has backed up his request vigorously, can expect some reductions in the over-all amount "but I don't believe they are going to be substantial."

"There will certainly be strong support within the senate committee for the development loan and Point Four (technical assistance) program," he said. "I think that defense support belongs in the military program rather than the economic, but I doubt the committee will act this year to change it."

Ronald Nowok, a passenger on the train that rammed the second said "everything went black" upon impact. He said a side door in his car flew open, a woman beside him fell backward and he hit his head on a seat.

Bleachers Collapse at Rodeo in East Kansas

Mayetta, Kan. — A rodeo arena bleachers huddled "with a pop and a bang" yesterday in this eastern Kansas hamlet, injuring 150 persons.

Twenty-three of the victims required hospitalization. The others were released after treatment at hospitals in Topeka, Holton and Lawrence.

"There was a pop and a bang and it collapsed," said C. W. Lawson of Perry, Kan. "There was no warning that it was going to give way."

Lawson was one of about 500 persons in the recently installed bleachers when it crashed to the ground. He was not hurt.

Rescue Rushed

Witnesses said the spectators had just started to file out after the last performance of the 4-day rodeo when the accident occurred. Performers, and other fans in the crowd of about 6,000, plunged into the wreckage to free the victims.

"There was a lot of screaming and shouting," said one witness. "Some of the people clung to girders but most of them piled up into just a big heap. It took several minutes to get them unspiled."

Cause of the accident hasn't been determined. The

Jailed Youth Says He Plans Hunger Strike

San Antonio — A young civilian air force clerk, jailed for allegedly trying to kiss a preacher's daughter, said today he would fast until the girl comes to him.

Billy Gilbreath, 23, said he is not going to eat a bite of food until the girl, Miss Shirley Norville, 16, turns up at the city jail to help get him out.

The youth was jailed yesterday after the Rev. Leonard Norville filed complaints charging him with aggravated assault and disturbing the peace.

Renew Riots On Race Issue

Negro Murdered In London by Gang Of White Youths

London — Special police guards patrolled Notting Hill, London's little Harlem, today to stave off a renewal of race rioting.

Tension rose in the slum area following the murder Saturday night of a Negro by a gang of white teenagers after they taunted him with "Jim Crow" jibes.

The murdered man was tall, bespectacled Kelson Cochrane, 32, a carpenter who was saving for a June wedding. He was walking home alone when the attack occurred.

Joy Okine, 21 - year - old white, wife of a Negro from Ghana, was the only witness, as she sat sewing in the window of her apartment just across the street.

"Five for six white boys between 15 and 18 years old came up behind the colored man," she said.

"Someone called out 'Hi, Jim Crow,' then they closed in. There was a fight. It looked though as if the colored man was standing up for himself. Then I saw him fall and try to drag himself across the street."

"I didn't look after that. I mind my own business around here."

Cochrane was stabbed in the chest. The gang escaped.

They were greeted by bullets. One of them shot Loris.

Minutes later, Detectives Raymond Bruno, 52, and Stanley Topper, 36, arrived, knowing only there was some kind of trouble.

T. E. Gates, Jr., Named Deputy Defense Chief

President Appoints Him as Successor to Donald A. Quarles

Washington — Thomas S. Gates, Jr., retiring secretary of the navy, was picked today to be the new deputy secretary of defense.

He will succeed the late Donald A. Quarles, who died earlier this month.

Gates had planned to return to private business at the end of this month. Instead President Eisenhower picked him to be the No. 2 man in the defense department.

The choice promptly touched off speculation as to whether Gates later this year will be named to succeed Neil H. McElroy as secretary of defense. Prior to Quarles' death 10 days ago, McElroy had said several times that he would like to resign by the end of this year.

Planned to Retire The White House announced that Gates' formal nomination will go to the senate later this week.

Gates' plans to step down as secretary of the navy were announced by the White House last January. At that time, Eisenhower picked the under secretary, William Franke, to succeed him.

Gates, 53-year-old Republican, had intended to return to his investment banking business. He was a partner in Drexel & Co. before entering government service.

Ready for Separation Of Issues

Geneva — Western foreign ministers at the Big Four conference quickly patched up today a brief but stormy dispute over how and when to negotiate with Russia on the Berlin crisis.

The United States, Britain, France and West Germany announced they are willing to discuss Berlin and other issues separately from the western package plan for an all-German peace settlement.

But, while willing to talk about Berlin separately, they said no issue covered in the plan can be "settled in isolation."

With this the west closed ranks and charted strategy for the second week of the east-west foreign ministers conference.

Differences Remain The statement did not wipe out fundamental differences arising from the west German-French determination to pursue a hard line in the negotiations and the British-U.S. interest in more flexible tactics and a softer approach.

Sec. of State Christian A. Herter met with his western colleagues at his office in midday for about 40 minutes. They talked about tactics for dealing with the Russians in the next few days. The statement on a united stand on Berlin was then issued.

Fantastic Probes Into Unknown Seen

Mysteries of Universe Uncovered
Layer by Layer, Physicists Say;
Seek More Money for Ventures

Washington —(AP)—New ventures from $10 million to $135 million, the future behind the curtain of amount it spends each year the future can be counted on on atom smashers.

That's the word today from a team of physicists who have been putting together some detailed projects they suggest on the mysteries of the universe.

They are keenly interested, in particular, in what might come from a Proposed Federal Program in Support of High Energy Accelerator Physics.

Don't let that imposing title throw you. These scientists, in 8,000 words of material issued by the White House during the weekend, use language that every once in a while verges on simple eloquence.

For example, in a discussion of how man's mind has been able to comprehend more and more, step by step in patient research:

"We are peeling an onion layer by layer, each layer uncovering in a sense another universe; unexpected, complicated, and—as we understand more—strangely beautiful."

Basically, these men are seeking more federal money for particle accelerators, or atom smashers.

Over the next four years, by 1963, they want the government to raise from $59 mil-

Sees Need for Parole System For Patients

Senator Points to Ben Wagner Slaying
As Prime Example

Milwaukee —(AP)—State Sen. K. B. Hendee, R - Milwaukee, said Sunday the kidnapping of 6-year-old Ben Wagner dramatically illustrates the need for a parole system for patients released from any mental institution.

Harold W. McLaughlin, 28, Milwaukee, admitted the April 4 murder last Wednesday. He is being held in the Central State hospital, Waukegan, until his trial on charges of first degree murder.

Hendee said the state has an excellent parole system for criminal cases and that even though most mental patients aren't in that category "there probably should be provision for constant assistance and checking."

McLaughlin was committed to the state mental hospital on two previous occasions and has a record of arrests and convictions dating back to 1950. He admitted to detectives that he sexually molested the Wagner boy, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Wagner of Milwaukee, before he stabbed him to death on a lonely road in Ozaukee County, several miles north of Milwaukee.

Hendee added that many agencies are available to help mental patients following their release but that there often is a lapse between the time one agency stops working with a person who is mentally ill and another steps in.

Meanwhile, Circuit Judge William C. O'Connell said at Beaver Dam that James Koenen, district attorney for Ozaukee County, probably would appear before him at Juneau Tuesday with a writ asking McLaughlin's release from the hospital to stand trial.

Wright's Widow Breaks Ground For New Church

Milwaukee —(AP)—The widow of architect Frank Lloyd Wright participated in groundbreaking ceremonies in suburban Wauwatosa Sunday for the Annunciation Greek Orthodox church which he designed.

Mrs. Olgivanna Lloyd Wright helped turn the first shovel of earth. "I happen to be Greek Orthodox," she said. "Often my husband would show me part of the plans and ask if it made the kind of house in which I would be satisfied to pray. I always said 'yes.' It will be the most beautiful church in the world."

The church will be the Milwaukee area's first large public building designed by the world famous architect.

New Electronic Brain Cuts Time of Missile Countdowns

Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif. —(AP)—The air force is getting closer to its goal of being able to launch intercontinental missiles before they can be knocked out by a sneak attack.

A new electronic brain designed to cut pre-launching countdowns from hours to 15 minutes is being installed at this west coast missile base. Current ICBMs, both Russian and American, take about 30 minutes to cover their 6,000-mile range. Assuming military crews here were alerted 10 minutes after the firing of an enemy missile, they could fire retaliatory warheads five minutes before the aggressor's missile landed.

Reds Shell Matsu for First Time in 2 Years

Nationalists Fear China Preparing For New Crisis in Formosa Strait

Taipei, Formosa —(AP)—Reds have been predicting for several weeks that the Reds might try to stage a new crisis in the Formosa strait to warn the west there could be trouble in this area unless concessions are made to the Russians on Berlin and Germany.

A Nationalist officer and two soldiers were reported killed as the Reds lobbed over 444 shells at the offshore island group at the northern end of the Formosa strait. The Nationalists said 162 red shells hit Matsu, 112 landed on near Peikantang island and 170 dropped into the sea.

The barrage reportedly destroyed six civilian homes on the two islands.

Batteries Silenced
The Nationalist defense ministry said the red mainland batteries were silenced after 90 minutes by effective counter-fire.

An hour before the red guns opened up on Matsu, 10 communist ships fired on Nationalist warships which sighted them west of the little island. The defense ministry said the Nationalist ships returned the fire and the red craft fled.

A few hours before the Reds had hurled 84 shells at their usual target — the Quemoy islands — 150 miles south of Matsu.

First Since 1957
It was the first time the Reds have shelled Matsu since April 28, 1957, but communist batteries hit Peikantang with 23 shells in a 14-minute barrage last Wednesday.

Eddie Cantor's Oldest Daughter Dies of Cancer

Hollywood —(AP)—Eddie Cantor joked about his five daughters, because he wanted a son.

But when his first-born, Marjorie, died yesterday the little comedian broke down and sobbed so hard a physician had to put him to sleep.

Cantor, 67, has heart trouble. The news was not exactly a shock to Eddie. He had known, ever since she entered Cedars of Lebanon hospital March 26 — her second visit there in a year — that Marjorie was dying of cancer.

Marjorie, 44, and unmarried, had never sought to share her father's limelight. But she was famous, she and her four sisters, because Eddie made them real to the millions in his radio and TV audiences.

Wants to Change Immigration Law

Washington —(AP)—Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) wants to change United States immigration laws so that each country of origin is treated alike.

He announced yesterday that he would propose a new system that would allow 250,000 immigrants to enter the United States every year on a first come, first served basis.

"It will eliminate discrimination in our immigration laws and restore the principles of equality and humanity," he said.

For the past 35 years, the country has had an immigration quota system, based on the national origins of American citizens.

Nine Killed in Auto Crashes Over Weekend

Death Toll Reaches 227, Compared to
249 Last Year

Milwaukee —(AP)—Nine persons were killed in Wisconsin traffic accidents over the weekend, raising the state's 1959 highway death toll to 227, compared with 249 on this same day a year ago.

Dennis Dabroski, 15, Pewaukee, was killed early Sunday when the car in which he was riding was sheared in half after veering out of control on Waukesha County Highway K just north of Pewaukee and struck a tree.

Two Die
Robert L. Doherty, 25, and Joseph Kemmett, also 25, both of Delavan, died Sunday when their automobile missed a curve on Walworth County Highway O and struck a utility pole just south of the Delavan city limits. Police said their car went off on the east side of the road, careened back across the highway and rammed into the pole.

Killed Sunday
Albert Meister, 17, Prairie du Sac, was killed Sunday when the car he was driving went out of control on a Highway 13 curve a mile southeast of Baraboo and struck a utility pole wire.

William Mueller, 56, West Allis, was injured fatally Saturday when the pickup truck he was driving overturned in a ditch in the Milwaukee suburb of Greendale.

Kenneth L. Milbraith, 8, Butler, was killed Saturday when struck by a car in Menomonee Falls.

William Adams, Jr., 17, of Plover, was killed Saturday when the automobile he was driving left Highway 54 and turned over end. The accident occurred 10 miles southwest of Stevens Point.

Wisconsin Farmer Dies in Crash Of His Light Plane

Medford —(AP)—A farmer was injured fatally late Sunday when his light plane struck high tension wires and crashed as he attempted to land on a makeshift runway on his farm.

George McNamer, about 60, of route 2, Medford, died about 2 1/2 hours later in a Medford hospital.

Witnesses said the plane touched down on the runway, bounced high in the air and snagged the wires as it came down again. The craft nosedived into a ditch but did not burn.

Iran Appears Strong Enough to Hold Off Threat of Communism

David-Goliath Battle of Nerves
Raging in Critical Middle East

Tehran, Iran —(AP)—A David and Goliath battle of nerves rages in the Middle East today between Iran and world communism. A dangerous period lies ahead, but Iran seems to have a better chance of keeping its giant Soviet neighbor at bay.

Backed by massive United States economic and military support, Iran is stronger now than at any time since the cold war began.

Kurdish Area
A tour of the Kurdish area in the northwest tends to ease fears that the Russians might try to use it as a corridor to communist-influenced Iraq. The Kurds in the area are bitterly anti-communist.

Inside the country the communist tudeh party, although one of the strongest organized political forces, seems to have been crippled. Many of its members have fled the country. Others have been disillusioned with Moscow. The party now seems to have little real hold on any substantial segment of the population.

Neighboring Iraq's drift toward communism is considered by many in Iran to be a greater problem than that of Moscow pressure itself.

With the Iraqi revolution last July, Moscow apparently decided the decisive moment had arrived to break the Baghdad pact and the west's northern tier linking Turkey, Iraq, Iran and Pakistan in a defense chain.

Major Concessions
The Russians made important concessions to Iran. But when the prospect arose of Iran's signing a bilateral defense agreement with the United States, the Soviets rolled out their big propaganda guns for a heavy attack on Mohammed Reza Pahlavi.

Both money and threats failed. Iran signed the treaty, and Moscow's predictions of dire consequences failed to materialize. Moscow suffered a loss of prestige.

Claims Intolerance Hurts U. S. Abroad

New York —(AP)—"The American reputation for intolerance has grown alarmingly in recent years," supreme court Justice William O. Douglas says.

He blamed "pronouncements of officials and other groups condemning people not for their deeds but for their ideas."

"The witch hunt," he said, "has done us incalculable damage abroad."

He called on lawyers to launch a nationwide program of public education to reemphasize "that in America a man may be condemned only for what he does, not for what he thinks or believes."

Two Kinds of Band This reviewer believes symphonic bands never were supposed to sound like mashed potatoes. There are supposed to be frequent lumps. Evidently Fred Schroeder believes the same thing.

Lively English Melodies The band excelled at reproducing the composer's intent. His melodies (those lovely English melodies) sang through, albeit over a somewhat too individualized accompaniment.

Two March Encores The Schuman was difficult rhythmically, with melodies falling on the half beat and flutes and clarinets playing the syncopation, as they rarely do. Nonetheless, the band played with authority, indicating that it perhaps likes this number best, too.

Ike Improves GOP Relations

Morton's Becoming Chairman Produces Partisan Bill Proposals

BY WILLIAM S. WHITE
Washington — For the first time in his six years in the White House, President Eisenhower is responding to a purely partisan spur in his relations with congressmen. Republican and Democratic congressmen have at least convinced him that he must "mix it" with controlling congressional Democrats.

The immediate consequence is a marked rivalry between the White House and Capitol Hill. This rivalry will be increasingly apparent as time goes on, assuming the president maintains his present attitude.

One certain consequence will be to make congressional Republicans much happier. It is possible, too, that the president's legislative wishes will carry more weight, for two reasons.

Jobs Boom
The first is the country's booming job situation. It has seemed to vindicate Eisenhower's economic theories. The old Democratic cries that he was doing too little to revive employment have lost their force in face of this spring's rise in job-holding.

The second lies in the fact that the president has at last asserted a traditional role as a party leader. The Republican National committee for six years had been treated by the president as a crude outfit. Now the Republican National committee has got a foothold in the White House.

Working Republican politicians have convinced the president they are really a part of his outfit, and that he is really a part of theirs. It is unlikely that they ever would have reached this status but for their determination to hold against panic remedies in the job field. He had committed himself to this policy, and he began to see that he really needed the pros.

Republican Changeover
The story of how they obtained entrance to the White House begins with the change in GOP congressional leadership last January. It ends with the recent appointment of Sen. Thruston Morton of Kentucky as chairman of the Republican National committee.

In congress last January two more partisan types took over party leadership from former Sen. William F. Knowland of California and Rep. Joseph W. Martin, Jr., of Massachusetts. Sen. Everett Dirksen of Illinois succeeded Knowland as GOP spokesman in the senate. Rep. Charles Halleck of Indiana replaced Martin in the similar job in the house.

These two Midwesterners from the start were much more aggressive than their predecessors. They slowly began to put a certain touch of old-fashioned Republicanism over the White House itself.

Morton Has Effect
Then Morton came along to finish the job. One week it was arranged that he should sit in with the president and congressional leaders in their weekly legislative conferences. The next week, after the first meeting attended by Morton, the president for the first time threw a must list of legislation at congress.

Democrats will treat this at best as a maybe list. In the end, the legislation that evolves certainly will be more theirs than the president's. But the big point is this: The GOP pros have at long last scaled the domestic summit and entered the White House as welcome guests. Their job now is to stay there.

They will be entirely content if only the president will continue to show special interest in the party. Morton is going to White House conferences mainly to build morale among the Republican rank and file in the country. He is saying to the faithful, "Sure, the president is interested in the GOP; why else would he invite your chairman to these meetings?"

Branch Banking Plan Dead for This Session

Milwaukee Bankers May Consider Test Case

BY JOHN WYNGAARD
Post-Crescent Staff Writer
Madison — Legislation to permit branch banking throughout the state, hotly disputed in the legislature for a generation, has been killed for this session.

Wisconsin law-makers again responded to the fears of the small bankers about the expansionist tendencies of larger competitors. It was claimed by proponents of the law.

But the 2 to 1 margin of the decision astonished most business observers of the Wisconsin assembly. In spite of a campaign by branch banking interests during the year, supporters of branch banks got fewer votes than on similar

Milwaukee Firm Will Subsidize C&NW Candy Train

Millston, Wis. — A Milwaukee confectionery firm has decided to "subsidize" what has become known as the "candy train" in east central Wisconsin.

For years, crewmen on Chicago and North Western Railway freight trains have been tossing candy to children in Millston and nearby Weyville. Now the Howard B. Stark company of Milwaukee has advised the railway that as long as the train runs between Millston and Weyville, free candy will be supplied the crews.

"We feel that any group of men kind enough to dip into their own pockets daily for the reason they have, deserve some subsidizing," the company said.

The publisher's note for "The Run From The Mountain" says: "The Run From The Mountain" is a far from pretty picture of army life and of America abroad. . . . William Groninger is a young man with something serious to say concerning his own military experience and he says it with force and conviction."

ies Home Journal titled "An Acorn For Jamie." He was a student in creative writing of Warren Beck. Fandel was a Holland scholar at Trinity college, attended Yale and took his master's degree from Middlebury. He now is at Manhattan college. This is his first formal book of poems, although he had three earlier brochures published.

The Menominee Legislation

The Legislative Council has approved the drafts of bills which, if enacted by the 1959 session of the state legislature, will effectuate the "emancipation" of the Menominee Indian community from federal government management and control.

The legislation was conceived by a commission of state and county officials and Indian tribal leaders which worked earnestly and long — and which is entitled to a bouquet for its careful, almost plodding effort in this enormously difficult field.

The commission concludes its planning work, moreover, with some reservations implicit about the feasibility of the bold program for independent community living by the Indians and responsible management by themselves of their considerable properties. Nowhere in the commission's voluminous reports is there an ironclad assurance that this program is going to work. It is an experiment, a brave and progressive one.

Yet the state and the Indians had no choice but to proceed under the mandate of congress enacted several years ago. If the experiment fails during the next few years, in spite of the elaborate safeguards contrived in the enabling legislation, it will be up to the congress to reappraise the Menominee situation in the light of that failure and its causes.

Ben Wagner's Death

The events leading up to the killing of little Ben Wagner in Milwaukee, apparently by a man with a history of sexual perversion, indicates that, statistics notwithstanding, the matter of the treatment and cure of deviates is a long way from perfect.

Harold McLaughlin had been sent to the hospital at Waupun for a series of charges of sodomy. He had undergone treatment and had been released. There had been no official charges against him for several years. But McLaughlin picked up a 5-year-old boy in Milwaukee a week before the Wagner murder and brought the child back unharmed only when the youngster's companions shouted McLaughlin's name. That was the warning of McLaughlin's condition but it took two weeks and news of a kidnap murder to get action.

After the Wagner killing, McLaughlin was questioned and released although he had led police in a frantic chase when they sought him for questioning in Shawano county. His flight may not have meant

The Lash Resort

Delaware's Gov. J. Caleb Boggs was justified, we think, in vetoing a bill passed by that state's legislature which would have made public lashing mandatory for convicted robbers.

Since colonial times, Delaware has had the whipping post. Men have been punished at the stake for wife-beating, theft and certain other offenses. There was reason to believe at one time that whipping was a deterrent to crime, although this was and still is a maxim so difficult to prove as to be almost a myth.

The bill, as it was passed, was so barbaric in nature as to be actually repugnant. It would have, for instance, provided 20 to 40 lashes for the first offense and no fewer

Under the Capitol Dome

Billboard Industry Organized for Fight

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

Madison — There was an appearance of pain, almost of incredulity, on the part of the billboard industry spokesmen the other day when they came to Madison to protest what they accurately described as a regulatory code proposed in a bipartisan way that would put them out of business.

It is a fairly curious thing that in this state which has prated so much about its concerns for the outdoors, and for the esthetic appreciation of nature and nature's beauties there has not been a serious, all-out attempt to preserve the natural condition of the roadsides through billboard legislation.

Perhaps that was what shocked the agents of the signboard interests so deeply. There is every sign that the current effort is a dead serious one, although a candid report must also relate that there isn't yet much evidence to show that the campaign will succeed.

NOW IT GOES

This corner would be willing to guess that if the people of Wisconsin could vote in a quick referendum, without propaganda outbursts on either side, there would be an impressive majority for legislation that would protect the outdoors from the flagrant desecrations of the clamorous billboards.

Such a ballot won't be had, of course, and so the legislature will be required to be guided by the evidence at hand, by its sense of ethics, or instinct.

And here is one of the eternal problems of democratic politics. The great masses of people are inert, passive, unresponsive. The politicians are alert, highly organized, well-financed, professionally led and utterly resolute in their objectives.

There was a clue to the lineup — in practical political terms rather than in theoretical public opinion measurements — in the high temperature hearing on the subject the other day before the state legislature.

Gov. Nelson is the first governor — in my recollection, at least — who has made an earnest effort to sponsor serious billboard control laws. There are some Republican bills on the same topic, which is suggestive of increasing public popularity of the idea.

But the literal backing at the hearing was almost pitiful. A few ladies of the garden and women's clubs turned up to make their pert speeches, and that was all.

For the present the recommendations to the legislature appear to us to be statesmanlike and realistic.

The proposed corporate form of ownership and management of the tribe's communal business interests and its valuable forest lands was worked out by some of the ablest technicians in the field and subjected to microscopic examination by scores of state officials, regulatory officials and experts of all kinds.

The civil government arrangements, including the creation of a special county classification to give the Indian community its own separate county administration under special terms, are also recognitions of reality. There will be some eyebrow lifting about the idea of a separate county for an admittedly small community. But it won't be the smallest county, by a considerable margin. It will rank with several other smaller counties with regard to assessed valuation. But more important, as the sponsoring commission realized, if this experiment in independent democracy does not succeed, the liability will be upon the whole state community to help, rather than upon the relatively slender resources of Shawano and Oconto counties which now encompass the reservation within their corporate boundaries.

guilt; it certainly indicated that something was seriously wrong. On April 21 he was adjudged "feeble-minded" and returned to the state hospital. If he were "feeble-minded" at that time, he was "feeble-minded" when he was released in the first place.

Of course there are hundreds of people of low mental capacity who do not require commitment to the state hospital either for treatment or to protect society. Undoubtedly there is a high percentage of sex deviates who are actually cured as the state insists. As the controversial Kinsey report showed, there probably is a great deal more sexual perversion than most people realize or will admit. This is no time for hysteria in upsetting the very real effort to cure and rehabilitate such people.

But there can be no excuse for not immediately re-committing anyone with such a history who shows a tendency to return to his compulsion. Ben Wagner paid with his life for the ineffectual handling of the case of Harold McLaughlin.

than 30 for each conviction thereafter. The whippings would have been administered in a prison yard to which the public would be admitted. It would have spared no one, youths and women included. The specter of Roman revelry loomed large in the bill's very language.

Crime deserves punishment strict and unremitting. But the modern attitude toward crime and punishment rightly looks beyond prison bars toward rehabilitation. We concur with Gov. Boggs' estimation that whipping is incompatible with the rehabilitation of a criminal.

His judicious use of the power of the veto has made, we think, a significant contribution in this field.

(Although one of them left a bon mot that will be remembered when she allowed that the tourist in Wisconsin will soon be required to buy a picture postcard to see what the landscape used to look like.)

THE CAMPAIGN

The opposition campaign was artfully put together. First a battery of union labor members and officers to lament the job deprival that would result from destruction of the roadside advertising industry.

A transparent device? Surely. But also a clever one, for there is nothing so calculated to put a bill in trouble with legislative Democrats than the idea that "labor is watching or believes it will be hurt."

There is also an effective bit of raking over the old urban-rural antagonisms. Why should the cities be permitted to be plastered with signboards, the legislators were asked by solemn witnesses, and the farmer deprived of badly needed dollars available through the leasing of empty space on his farm along the roadside?

Finally came the tired proposal that always comes under these circumstances, the argument that this is a difficult and politically volatile subject and had best be handled through an interim study. The interim committee, in practical politics, has become a discreet burying ground for matter that is too hot to handle for turbulent legislators — of both partisan persuasions. Yet such a fate is very likely to come for the first earnest effort to translate Wisconsin conservation ideals into practical terms in highway planning and control.

Many Famous Men Saw Short Service There

BY JACK RUDOLPH

Post-Crescent News Service

During the years that Fort Howard was a springboard into the wilderness as well as the base around which the settlement of North-eastern Wisconsin developed, many of what are now the oldest regiments in the United States army, as well as officers who helped them make military history, were stationed at the old post. All five of the first numbered infantry regiments — from the First through the Fifth — had elements at the fort a one time or another.

Last of a Series

The Third Infantry built Fort Howard and its companies moved in and out from 1816 until 1826 when the entire regiment was concentrated at Camp Smith, now the site of Cotton House, before moving deeper into the west. When it left the post was taken over by four companies of the Second.

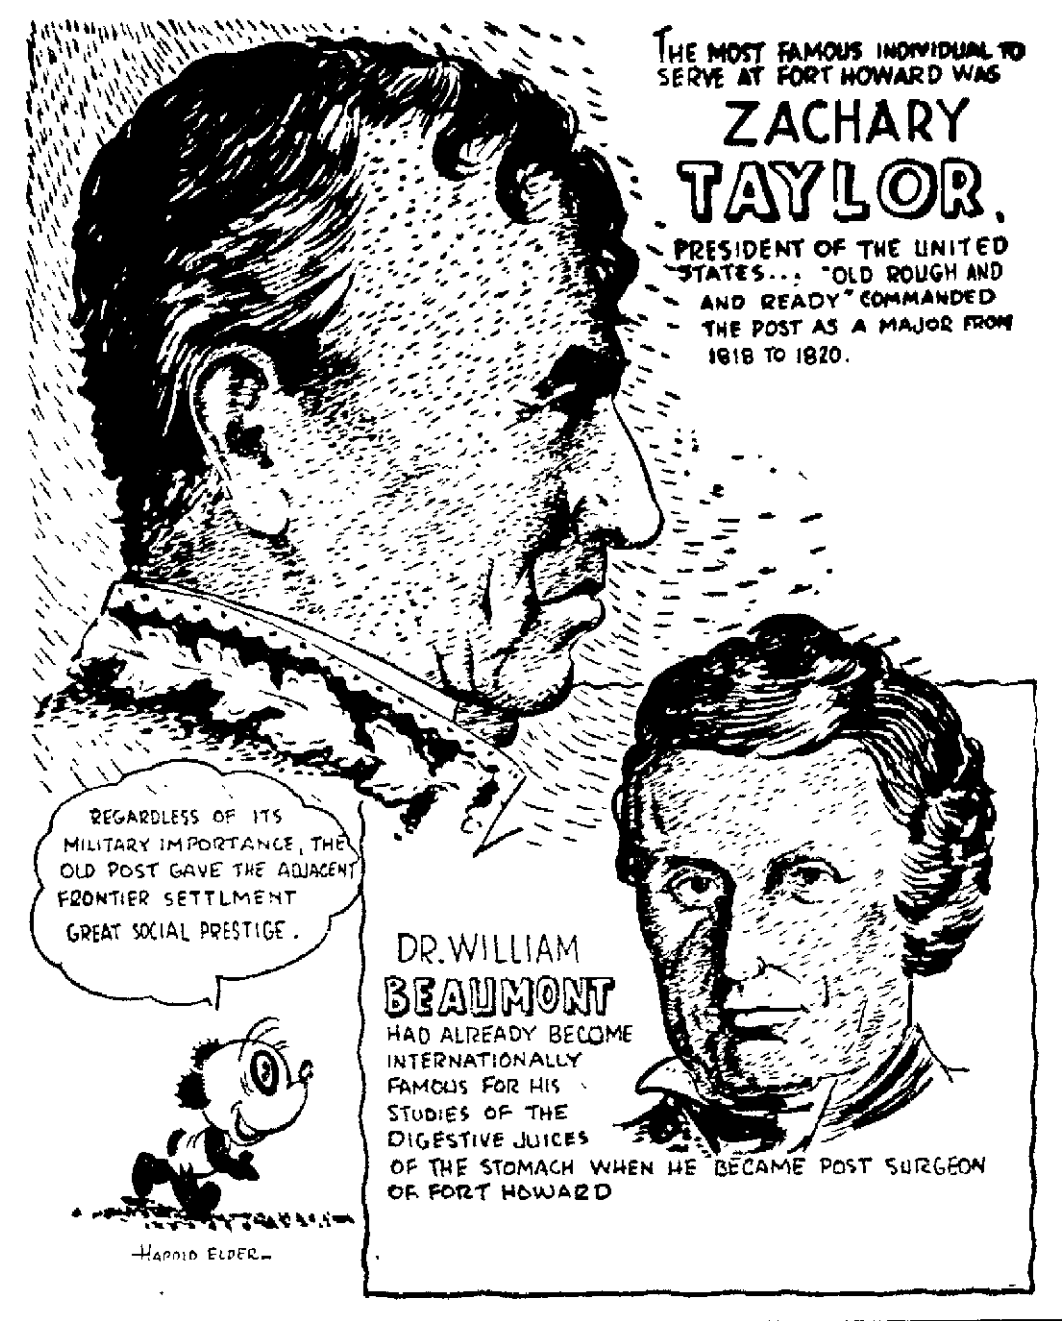

'Green Bay's Own'

Two years later there was a general shuffling. The Second moved out and the First moved in, only to be relieved shortly by the Fifth. The latter became more or less "Green Bay's Own" in the next 13 years. Its headquarters were at Fort Howard until 1841 and many of the officers and men who were killed or gained distinction in the War with Mexico were well known in the area. One came back to live in Green Bay after retirement.

When the post was reactivated in 1849 the garrison was composed of elements of the Fourth Infantry. The Fourth subsequently went to the Pacific northwest where the adventures of the Haller expedition made exciting news. Maj. Grenville O. Haller was Fort Howard's last commanding officer.

Most Famous

Regardless of its military importance, the old post gave the adjacent frontier community great social prestige. The garrison was a tangible link with the more settled east, and the military families were a colorful part of the social scene.

The most famous individual to serve at Fort Howard was Zachary Taylor, President of the United States. "Old Rough and Ready," who was really a cultured gentleman when he wasn't making character with his troops, commanded from 1818 to 1820 as a major. He made many friends in the area and was a frequent visitor when he later was in command of Fort Crawford at Prairie du Chien.

In connection with Taylor the story has grown that Jefferson Davis, later president of the Confederacy, served under him here where he wooed and eloped with his daughter. Davis, who didn't graduate from West Point until 1829 never served at the fort although he visited it. It was at Fort Crawford that his romance with Knox Taylor developed, a defiance of parental and command wrath that precipitated Davis' resignation from the army.

Another post commander who attained Mexican war fame was Maj. David E. Twiggs, commanding officer in the late 1820s. Twiggs was a brutal disciplinarian but a scrapper. He made a brilliant record as a division commander under Winfield Scott in Mexico, was promoted to major general and was voted a presentation sword and the thanks of congress.

Texas Command

Twiggs was in command of the Dept. of Texas when that state seceded in 1861. A southerner, he promptly surrendered to the new Confederacy, for which he was dismissed from the federal service. Twiggs became a major general in the Confederate army but died in 1862.

E. Kirby Smith was another southerner who served at Fort Howard as a young lieutenant in the Fifth Infantry and later achieved high rank in the Confederate service. He resigned at the outbreak of the Civil war and joined the Confederate army, in which he rose to the rank of full general.

Both Twiggs and Taylor were a long way from star rank in their Fort Howard days, but two general officers actually did command the post. One was Brig. Gen. Hugh Brady, the other George M. Brooke.

Old Timer

Brady was a real old timer, first commissioned in 1792. He resigned in 1800 but came back in for the War of 1812 and stayed another 40 years. Brooke, also a pre-1812 regular, entered the army in 1808 and became a major general during the Mexican war. Both were among the oldest officers in the service when they died within five weeks of each other in 1851.

Another famous pair were Dr. William Beaumont and Lt. Col. Benjamin L. F. Bonneville. Beaumont had already become internationally renowned for his studies of the digestive juices of the stomach when he became post surgeon in 1826. He bought much property in Green Bay, and after his death his son Israel came back to manage it. Israel, or "Bud," Beaumont, was the builder of the first Beaumont hotel and the father of the late Mae and Sophie Beaumont.

Bonneville achieved fame as a Rocky Mountain explorer in the 1830s and won two citations for bravery during the Mexican war. Bonneville Salt Flats, Utah, is named for him. He commanded the post in 1851-52.

Inspector General

A third officer who went far was Randolph B. Marcy. Marcy led an important exploring expedition into the southwest after the War with Mexico, became a major general and inspector general of the army during the Civil war. His daughter married George B. McClellan, creator of the Army of the Potomac and Democratic presidential candidate in 1864.

The two men responsible for Fort Howard weren't so lucky. Maj. Charles Gratot, who selected the site, and Lt. Col. Talbot Chambers, who built it, were both dismissed from the service although the Army Registers don't say why.

Chambers, who was succeeded in command by Taylor, was a rough, fiery-tempered man but he got along well with the early settlers. He became a full colonel when he left Fort Howard but was cashiered in 1826.

One of the earliest graduates of the military academy (Class of 1806), Gratot became chief of engineers of the army and a brigadier general in 1828. He was dismissed ten years later.

One Returned

The man who came back to Green Bay was Col. William Chapman, who served at the fort as a lieutenant. Chapman had a fine Mexican war record, served through the Civil war and returned to Green Bay upon retirement, where he lived until his death in 1887.

During Fort Howard's two periods of vacancy the caretaker was a former officer, Ephraim Shaylor. Although he was usually addressed as "major," he had resigned from the service as a captain. Shaylor was a fussy, highly excitable old man but a popular figure and conscientious caretaker. When the fort passed to the North Western Railroad it was still in excellent condition.

Parent Expresses His Opinion Of Beer Bars and Young Adults

Editor, Post-Crescent:

In answer to the article in the Post-Crescent, about closing beer bars, as a parent, I would like to give my view point.

The young adult 18 to 21 years must prepare himself for manhood. Just as he furthers his education in book learning or selects his work to prepare himself, he also must learn to control himself.

The beer bar is a place, when properly supervised for him to meet friends, his age and enjoy their company, not just a place to drink.

I am sure that the parents of these young adults, would rather know that they are going to a well supervised beer bar, than to know that they are going where. If we take this "right" from him, we are heading for much worse trouble. The few who are causing a problem will continue to do so, and when breaking the law by getting beer, will also go a little farther and get hard liquor. Only those who know how to conduct themselves and abide by the law, will suffer by not having a place to meet friends.

These young men and women must hold a job, earn a living, and go into service, and therefore, must be shown that we trust them, and feel that they are capable, and can go into places where alcoholic beverages are sold, without making a fool of themselves. The few who are causing trouble will soon come to their senses by mingling with the large majority of well behaved. So let us not take this "right" to buy beer lawfully from them, and cause a more serious problem.

These young adults must have a place of recreation and must also be given the responsibility to learn how to use alcoholic beverages, and not wait until he is 21 years old when he can obtain hard liquor.

There is also another thought that should be seriously considered before taking as drastic a step as closing "beer bars." The point that I am going to bring out, is that this is a free country, and anyone who doesn't want to go into a "beer bar" can stay out. If parents don't want the young adult members of their family to go to one, let them make the law in their own home and see that it is obeyed. If these people cannot enforce the law in their own home, how in common sense, do they think they can enforce such a law for other families?

Let us not take away the privilege of the parents, to decide what they want their family to do, or where they want them to go for recreation.

tion. This would put us on too much of a level with Russia.

"Live and let live" in play as well as in work. So let us not close beer bars or change the age for purchasing beer — let the parent guide their own family and not have it run by a minority of chronic complainers. Keep this a free country for our young adults — and their parents.

Now a special word to the instructors of the drunkards' closing beer bars. What are you doing about furnishing recreation for the young men and women of the ages between 18 and 21 years?

Consider this before you take away their one and only place of recreation or you might find them in your own back yard. Then you will have something to complain about, and it will serve you right.

Points to Alcohol and Delinquency

Editor, Post-Crescent:

As the Welfare committee is referring the "beer age" question to the general council this week, we would like to express some thoughts on the matter.

We hear the argument that we can't legislate morality. Speeding on our streets and highways is basically a moral problem and we legislate on that. The use of heroin and other drugs is a moral issue and most of us agree that that should be prosecuted. The use of alcohol is a combination of these issues. Alcohol is a narcotic, it depresses the brain centers and is habit-forming. Accident Facts, 1956 Edition, stated that 26 out of every 100 traffic fatalities in 1955 involved alcoholic beverages.

As a registered nurse, I worked under Dr. John Schindler in Menomonie, Wis., where we treated alcoholics. Of those patients, half that I interviewed were alcoholics on beer, and everyone had started drinking as a teenager.

Raising the legal age for purchasing and possessing beer will not correct all Appleton's teenage problems. But, it is a step in the right direction. It should change the idea that drinking is socially correct for high school pupils. Tavern owners may make a mistake and serve a 19 year old but he is not apt to mistake a 16 year old for 21.

One last quote from John Connolly, Boston's Juvenile Court Justice: "Liquor is the greatest factor in juvenile delinquency today, for it leads youth down avenues to drug immorality, and immorality."

On and after May 23rd, chapter 269, Laws of 1880, will be in force and under this state statute the sale or use for illuminating purposes of such materials as gasoline, kerosene, petroleum fluids or of any of the lighter and more inflammable products of petroleum is prohibited without having been first inspected and branded approved by some Wisconsin inspector.

119 Hurt When Trains Crash In Chicago

In the rear car of the standing train ran forward to the other cars while those in the front car of the rear train tried to crowd into the rear cars.

Passengers in elevated trains can step from car to car through front rear exits. The crash occurred at 1800 Milwaukee avenue at the highest point of the Northwest elevated route and between the Damen avenue and Western avenue stations. The structure there is as high as a 2-story building.

The motorman of the rear train, Dominick Paris, was trapped in his cab for more than a half hour. He complained of a leg injury but was able to walk unaided.

Passengers said the rear train had just pulled away from the Western avenue station and was traveling slowly when the collision occurred. The first coach of the second train telescoped about four feet.

There was no fire but fire department equipment was rushed to the scene to remove the injured. Firemen used a snorkel—a car on a long movable beam—to bring passengers to the ground. About five persons were brought down from the structure after this trip.

Power Shut Off
Others were brought down fire department ladders. Electric power was shut off so that passengers who escaped in jury could be led along catwalks to either the Damen avenue or Western avenue stations.

Frank Thielman, second deputy fire marshal in charge of rescue operations, estimated a total of 800 passengers were on the two trains.

Paris freed from his cab by firemen using portable electric saws, told police and newsmen he had pulled away from the station about 8 18 or 8 20 a m. when the train stalled and he came up behind it. He said he estimate his speed because the straight stretch of tracks at the scene had no signals.

There was no immediate explanation of why the first train stopped.

drive to build up the German communist regime.

An East German spokesman said, however, "It seems that secret talks may lead to some success, so we are not against secret talks even when no Germans are present."

Gromyko was reported to have told Foreign Minister Bolz of East Germany that he was prepared to go into the limited, private talks with Herter, British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd and de Murville.

Look For Solution
As today's meeting opened at the Palace of Nations, a Soviet informant said Gromyko planned to make a statement, mild in tone, on the western proposals for a German settlement linked with disarmament and European security measures.

This informant also said Gromyko is prepared to engage in private talks.

It is in such talks, western officials privately concede, that the west will find out whether there is a solution for the Berlin crisis short of resort to the military.

DeMunville was smiling when he left the meeting of western ministers. He and the West German foreign minister Heinrich von Brentano chatted privately for about a minute. Asked about the conference, Von Brentano said only "Good good."

Pierre Baradug, French spokesman said everything is going well. He referred to the joint statement and said "we are completely in agreement."

The western statement was issued in an apparent attempt to calm the dispute.

The U. S. and British delegation let it be known over the weekend that they felt Russia's adamant rejection of the western package proposal for German reunification and a European security system necessitated negotiations on the immediately pressing question of Berlin.

French and West German officials insisted on continued firm support for the package program and a very tough line in negotiating with Gromyko.

Package Not Broken

The joint western statement denied that the allies had decided to break up the western package plan and concentrate on a Berlin settlement.

It said the western powers had already stated that "the various questions included in the (western package) plan can be discussed one by one. But as they are, in fact, all connected they cannot be settled in isolation."

"As to Berlin," the statement said, "the western foreign ministers expect to discuss this problem along the line of the proposals on Berlin contained in phase I of the western peace plan."

The plan proposes that west and east Berlin be united by free elections and the unified city be guaranteed by the big four. This would be the first step toward German reunification.

The statement was issued after Sec. of State Christian

A Herter and other western foreign ministers met at Herter's headquarters to line up their strategy for the second week of the conference.

Deckard also took a bullet in a rapid exchange of shots.

Deckard ran dumping a bag containing the loot in a vacant lot, before invading the 2-family flat of Wetzel's fiancée, 18-year-old Janet Fischer.

Deckard herded her 20-year-old sister Mrs. Lois Barth, and her mother, Mrs. Margaret Fischer, 55 into the kitchen.

Leaves Family Behind

Mrs. Barth said the bloody Deckard terrorized the women and her 6-year-old brother Eddie. When Wetzel knocked on the door he said,

"Don't all of you try to rush for the door—I'll get one of you if you do."

She said Deckard made them let Wetzel in, then said, "All right, we're all gonna go for a ride."

Wetzel promised to drive him anywhere if he would leave the women behind. Deckard agreed. Police spotted Wetzel's car in North St. Louis and gave chase.

"He told me to stop let him out and keep going. Wetzel said, 'I did just that but a few moments later I saw the police'."

Deckard headed for the home of an oft-arrested pal, Curtis Link.

Chief of Detectives James Chapman and a police detail saw a taxi parked in front of Link's apartment. On a hunch they entered the Link's old brick flat. Three officers started up the attic stairs and Deckard shouted "Don't shoot I'm coming down."

An unloaded revolver was found in the attic. Link 30 and his wife Beaumont were arrested too. Deckard was held overnight at City hospital.

Police believe a car which left from the front of the drug store during the gun fight was the getaway car. The car has not been found.

Sen. Bridges' Brother Feared Lost in River Near Family Home

Pembroke, Maine — Dr. Ronald Bridges, 53, prominent lay religious leader and brother of Sen. Styles Bridges (R-NH), was feared drowned today in the Pennamquan river.

His small boat was found overturned in the river yesterday a short distance from the family homestead here.

State police reported Dr. Bridges, a doctor of philosophy and theology and religious adviser to the U. S. Information Service, presumably drowned.

He came to Pembroke a week ago for a fishing vacation from his duties in Washington. His wife accompanied him to Pembroke but returned to their Washington home Friday.

Dr. Bridges was last seen in the yard of his Pembroke home last Friday evening.

The coast guard dragged the bottom section of the river yesterday but had to suspend operations until today when the winds picked up and the tide came in.

liquefied gas line was broken, setting on edge the nerves of victims and rescuers.

"We could smell the gas and we were afraid it would ignite," he said.

Victims had to be taken as far as 50 miles away, to Lawrence, for medical treatment. Mayetta, with a population of only 230, has no hospital.

Hospitals Far Away

Most of the injured were taken 20 miles south to Topeka, the state capital. Sixteen persons were hospitalized there. Another 105 were treated and released.

Nine miles away at Holton, seven remained in a hospital and 30 were released after treatment. The other two injured received treatment at Lawrence and were sent home.

Dr. Rex Wright, a Topeka chiropractor, described the collapse this way:

"All of a sudden you could see it (the bleachers) start to go down," Dr. Wright said. "It was slow at first, sort of like an umbrella, then it gave way fast. People were clutching at anything they could."

Another witness said he saw a man teetering on the edge of the bleachers, holding the hand of a child.

"I told him to drop her," the witness said. "He did and I caught her, but the man just stood there trying to regain his balance. I had to just stand there and watch him fall into the wreckage."

MODERN soil-cement

Better low-cost roads for Wisconsin...

75% of the pavement materials are free with modern soil-cement

Here's the pavement that lasts for 20 years and more—far longer than any other low-cost paving material. Built with soil, portland cement and water mixed right on the road and rolled solid. A thin bituminous surface is then added.

Soil-cement is made from almost any soil at hand. Savings right from the start! You can drive on a precision-built pavement that's stronger inch for inch than any other pavement short of concrete. Yet initial cost is low. Upkeep costs stay low. No softening, no spring break-up. Paving is quick and easy. Contractors have built as much as two miles a day. Soil-cement is strong right from the start, can even take light traffic the same day it's laid.

Developed in 1935, there are already over 12,000 miles of soil-cement pavement in service. It's the low-cost answer to road problems everywhere.

Gets stronger with age. Core cut from soil-cement highway showed strength had actually doubled in 14 years.

The Four Sons of Bing Crosby by his first marriage rehearse a singing number in Hollywood for the brother act they're planning to start next month. Clockwise from the right foreground they are Gary, 25, Dennis, 24, Lindsay, 21, and Phillip, 24. Dennis and Phillip are twins. They are investing $35,000 in the stage tour.

4 Crosby Boys Work On New Brother Act

Series to Give Little Known View Of Bing's Sons as Individuals

BY BOB THOMAS
Hollywood—Phillip Crosby was the first to arrive at his brother Gary's house, high above the Sunset Strip. A husky athlete with a stubble of white hair, he had just come from visiting his wife and their new-born daughter, first after a long line of Crosby males. Phillip reported a wire from father Bing, expecting his sixth child: "Congratulations. Hope it's a trend. Love, Dad."

Dennis came in next. Balding, pale and soft-spoken, he chided his twin for naming the new-born Dixie Lee; Dennis had also hoped to name a future daughter after his mother. Next, the master of the house stormed in. Chunky in a one-piece zipper suit, Gary had just finished a day's work at 20th Century Fox. The big living room started ringing with his jokes and caustic comments. Lindsay, the youngest, strolled in almost unnoticed. A tanned, handsome lad, he listened to the banter of his brothers. Georgia Hardwicke, longtime Crosby employee and now Gary's housekeeper, spotted Bing's boys, they must produce—or else. This is a situation they have faced since birth. Georgia says: "I've always told the boys that the moment they walk out of the house, if they drop a handkerchief people are going to know about it."

Public scrutiny has played a large part in shaping their lives. They are bewildered and sometimes embittered by the kind of publicity they get. Gary, the sharpest-tongued of the four, declared: "There will always be the blood-suckers who can only write about the drunk driving arrests, the fights and the other things that make the headlines. I don't think we drink any more or get in any more trouble than anyone else our age." (Gary is 25, the twins 24, Lindsay 21.)

Says Lindsay: "Nobody seems to be interested in us as individuals." Because of their famous father and publicity that has pictured them as trouble-makers, the Crosby brothers have failed to register in the public mind as individuals. Yet they are interesting personalities in their own right. In some ways they are similar. They all have the same breathless delivery of bountiful humor that reminds you immediately of their father. They share a deep reverence for their mother, who died of cancer in 1932. You see it in the naming of Phillip's baby, the oil painting of Dixie in Dennis' home. "She loved life more than anyone I've ever known," Gary remembers. "Their regard for Bing is by brought boiled lemons and salt for Gary's sore throat, saying, 'That's what your dad used to cure it with.' "By George, if that's what ole Dad used, it's good enough for me," Gary cracked.

Baritone Blend
They gathered around a piano with vocal coach Bill Thompson and started singing "Blues in the Night," a number for the brother act with which they plan to tour the country. It was an intricate arrangement that required many rehearsals. Finally they mastered it. Their mellow baritone blend in to rich harmony.

These sessions have been going on almost nightly for weeks and will continue until the June 15 debut at Hesperia, Calif. The boys are pouring $35,000 into the act. The reason for their effort and expense is simple: They know they are on a

Hard Sell on TV Nothing to Worry About

Psychiatrists Say Viewers Listen With 'Grain of Salt'

BY CYNTHIA LOWRY
New York — If you're worried about the effect of television's hard sell on the tender public mind, you may be fretting unnecessarily. Perhaps you should center your concern on the people who produce the hammer-type commercials.

At least, that's the most recent flash from members of the American Psychiatric Association, which at its recent meeting held a special round table on mass communication and mass motivation—meaning mostly TV.

Dr. Jurgen Ruesch of the University of California came right out and said what a lot of people have sensed: That the bombardment of advertising does not necessarily lead to increasing sales but creates instead "inattentive people who will disregard most messages that tend to distort reality."

Public Immune
Translated, this could mean a lot of us don't really believe that by changing beer brands we can become social successes and that by switching hair oil or lipstick we can emerge from ugly ducklings to neighborhood Romeo of femme fatale.

"The public," supplemented New York psychiatrist Dr. Bernard L. Paella, "is perpetually vaccinated so that it does have some immunity from advertising messages. I think that the public has become accustomed to a continuous barrage of slogans and messages, and over a period of time has become sophisticated about advertising claims. This produces a defensive reaction—an automatic reduction of attention to the television message so that sometimes it is skipped entirely. Sometimes the very contrast between high grade entertainment and the commercial will put this automatic turn-off into operation."

"Certainly we know that repetition of a commercial by itself will tend to implant an idea, but there's a very big question about whether it motivates a buyer. It might very well do the reverse—raise all the buyers' defenses."

Ocean-Going Vessels Find Easy Docking at Marinette

Marinette—Ocean-going ships sailing the new St. Lawrence seaway to the Great Lakes will find one of the major advantages here some of the easiest docking on the lakes.

Marinette has become the first port on Lake Michigan to be authorized by the army corps of engineers to deepen its harbor to 26 feet at the entrance and 24 feet up the Menominee river.

The deepening project was approved on the basis of current need, rather than future seaway development. The harbor is now 21 feet deep.

Ships calling here now lose little time getting to the docks, because they are able to move to the berths under their own power, without tug assistance.

Linking the harbor to the industrial complex of Wisconsin are two railroads, the Milwaukee Road and the North Western, and four common carrier trucking companies.

Varied Cargoes
Present facilities include a municipal wharf of 50,000 square feet for open storage and 600 feet of dock at the present 21-foot depth. Over these docks move about one million tons of cargo a year, including coal, Jay Lamers started on the mound for the losers and was relieved by Jerry Verbeten. Mike and Larry Miller shared the pitching duties for Oshkosh.

Dan Jure and Lamers paced the Little Chute hitting with a pair of safeties each, sponsor a waste paper drive set out on the curb.

League Asks Tax Study Shows Skepticism About Mechanics Of Present System

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison—The League of Wisconsin Municipalities has shown its skepticism about the mechanics of property tax administration in Wisconsin.

The property tax is the life blood of municipal government but the League suggests its doubt about property taxing methods by asking the legislature to set up an interim committee to conduct a comprehensive study of the organization for and practices and procedures in the assessment of property for tax purposes.

The League by implication suggests that reform in the administrative pattern of the property tax assessment system may be desirable.

Specifically, the League asked for an examination of the merits of the county assessor system. A county-wide assessment plan has periodically been proposed in the legislature, but without sufficient backing to persuade the legislature to disturb the independent local district assessor system that has survived from frontier times.

The study would be reported to the 1961 legislature, under the League proposal.

The major transport of the ferries is automobiles, but they also carry other cargoes and passengers.

The port has numerous water-front industrial sites ranging in size from as small as 15 acres with 200 feet of river frontage to as much as 50 acres with 3,500 feet of bay frontage.

Green Bay Water Levels Up Notably

Scientists Measure
Results of Lake
Michigan Pumping

Madison — Water levels in wells in the Green Bay area continue to recover from the low stages of 1957, the United States department of the interior and the Wisconsin geological and natural history survey announced today.

From Aug., 1957, to March, 1958, the recovery of ground-water levels was more than 200 feet in some parts of Green Bay, and about 6 feet in a well in Door county, 20 miles northeast of Green Bay.

The recovery was caused by a reduction in pumping of ground water from about 18 to about 5 million gallons a day in Aug., 1957, when the city of Green Bay began using water from Lake Michigan. Water levels were at or near record lows when pumping was reduced.

35 Wells Used

This information is based on water-level measurements in 35 observation wells in the Green Bay area. The measurements are part of a quantitative study of ground water in the area being made by the U. S. geological survey in cooperation with the Wisconsin survey.

Relating the recovery in water level to the reduction in pumping by means of a suitable mathematical equation enables estimating the hydraulic characteristics of the aquifer. Once known, these hydraulic characteristics can be used to predict the effect of future changes in pumping.

Kiwanis Club Hears Talk on Paper Industry

Chilton — Lester H. Sebora, manager, Marathon wax paper plant, Menasha, discussed the paper industry at a meeting of Kiwanis club.

Sebora explained that manufacture of paper and paper products is now the fifth largest industry in the United States, and the largest in Canada.

An average of 435 pounds of paper is used annually by persons in this country, he said, by 1965 the amount is expected to reach 500 pounds per person.

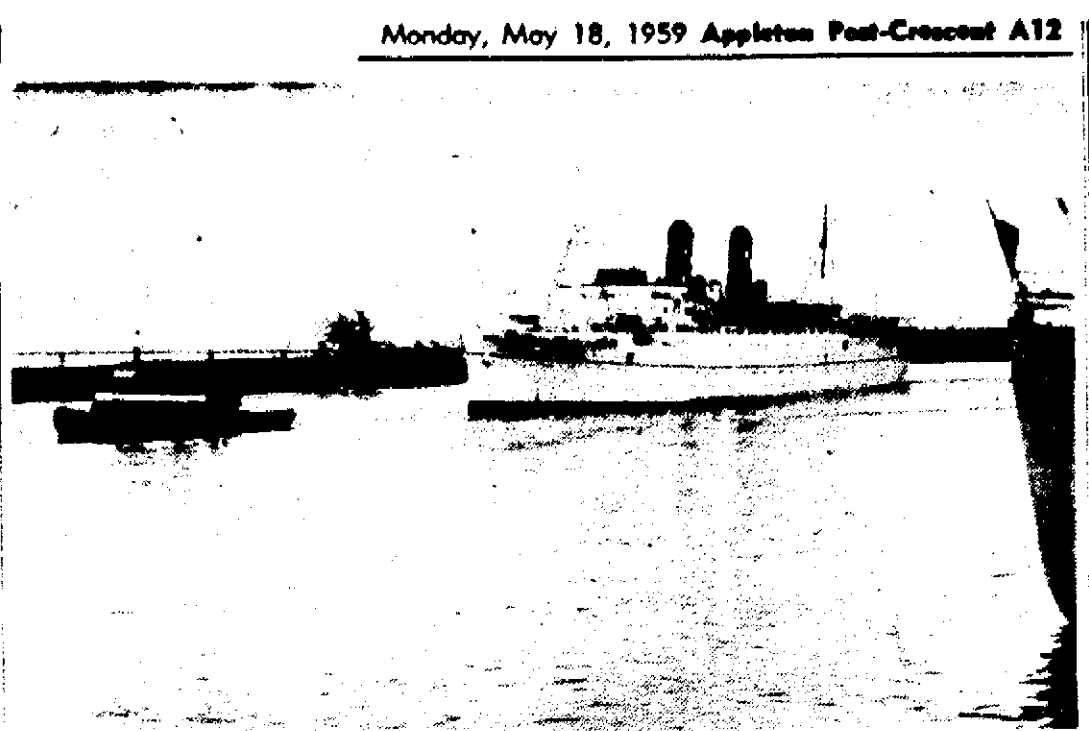

The Marathon corporation began in 1910 at Rothschild, it now employs 10,000 workers. Owning many of its own forests and with timber rights on a total of 40,500 square miles, the company is able to carry the manufacturing of paper through all its phases, Sebora explained.

In 1927, the firm pioneered the use of spent-liquor in its manufacturing processes to prevent stream pollution.

Sebora illustrated the discussion with film slides of all Marathon plants.

Martin Bankert was named as a possible candidate for district lieutenant governor.

The Luxury Liner, Empress of France, starts her journey through the St. Lawrence seaway towed by a sturdy tugboat. Her passenger list of 100 persons was filled when the ship headed for Lake Ontario from the port of Montreal.

Trail of the Voyageur

Charlie Still on Land, Tells About Seaway Traffic Jam, Luxury Ships

BY CHARLES HOUSE

Montreal—I walked along the docks of Montreal harbor today at the beginning of the St. Lawrence seaway and looked over the cargoes aboard the big vessels.

There were automobiles from France, beer from Germany, benzene from Portugal, wool from Scotland, peanuts from Brazil, whiskey from Scotland, twine from Belfast, glassware from Belgium, refrigerators from Germany and wine from Italy.

These cargo articles and millions of tons of others are awaiting the "go" signal in an embarrassing traffic jam which has held up some ships for as long as five days.

One seaway executive who declined to be quoted on an approximation of costs to a vessel using the seaway, estimated that an average general cargo ship would have to pay about $5,000 to use the locks between Montreal and Lake Ontario.

Costs, of course, vary with the cargo. Generally, however, it costs two cents per gross registered ton for bulks, and 95 cents per ton for general cargo. Other cargoes cost somewhere between those extremes.

'Silent Service'

It is reasonable to guess that shipping company owners are making bitter complaints to the seaway authority. Hold up a 10,000-ton ocean vessel for a few days and the costs are prodigious and frightening.

The complaints — if there are some — are not aired in public, for sea-going folks are members of what the English navy calls "the silent service."

Rene L'Heureux, the seaway's eastern district superintending engineer, indicated that he is optimistic. The traffic jam in Montreal harbor and at various locks on the seaway represent problems which can be worked out, he said.

Authorities feel that some of the ships going into the seaway are poorly equipped for the step-stair locks. They will be required in the future to add necessary gear before they leave Montreal's harbor.

Meanwhile, ships from virtually every maritime nation are readying for their maiden voyage up the seaway.

Surprise Development

Although the seaway was built for commerce, and shipping men scarcely believe that the route offers much as an extension of passenger business, some surprising events have developed.

The Dutch Oranje line built an 8,500-ton flagship, the Prinses Irene, for the sole purpose of going trans-Atlantic and seaway, from Rotterdam to Chicago.

The Prinses Irene, carrying 115 passengers booked fares to Montreal and then will dispel them here, taking on a new load of travelers bound from Montreal to Chicago via the seaway, Lake Ontario, Lake Erie, Lake Huron and Lake Michigan.

The fare will be comparable to the voyage across the North Atlantic and will take almost as much time—six days.

Although commerce through the seaway can save shippers thousands of dollars for exporting and importing their goods and produce, seaway enthusiasts predict that shipping costs will be reduced by as much as 20 per cent. But the traffic jams in harbors and locks will have to be alleviated before such savings occur.

At this writing 20 ocean-going vessels are "treading water" in a traffic jam at the entrance to Lake Ontario. Others are jammed up at the International Rapids section, and many are waiting here in the harbor.

The jagged rocks and the dredged sludge from the St. Lawrence river bottom can one day be beautified. Montreal seems to be moving in directions which will make a seaway trip a pleasure.

There is much exciting history to be found on the shores of the St. Lawrence, from St. Helene isle, named for Champlain's wife, and Num's island — also in the port of Montreal — all the way to the shorelines of Lake Michigan. Here, too, is a crucible of history comparable to that of the 13 original colonies.

Canada, too, is embarked on a park program which will enhance St. Lawrence trips for passengers.

Today I watched France's beautiful passenger ship, the Empress, start off on her voyage through the seaway. Her passenger list of 100 persons was full.

Though the $475 million seaway was created particularly for cargo ships, it is conceivable that such a

Question Leaving Cities' Men Off Valley Regional Commission

Fear of animosity from the local governments, avoiding some of the problems which have arisen.

The time is ripe for a change, the Appleton commission believes, because appointments of all executive committee members were up May 1.

The executive committee, by unwritten rule, is composed of one delegate from each participating municipality not connected in any way with his local government.

Cut Bickering

Regional commissioners agreed on the rule informally three years ago in a belief that this would keep the commission from political bickering and petty jealousies between member municipalities.

Appleton commissioners said it is quite clear that the regional executive committee has not had close contact with logical governmental procedures or what their municipalities are doing in the planning fields.

They said appointment of someone from the local governments—mayor or planning commissioners—would provide better liaison between the regional commission and

Kenneth Wiggins, Phone Company Official, Dies

Kenneth H. Wiggins, 52, Wauwatosa, an official in the Wisconsin Telephone company in Appleton until 1941, died Sunday of cancer in a Milwaukee hospital.

He was division commercial personnel supervisor for the telephone company in Appleton 24 years ago.

In Appleton, he was exchange manager, district sales supervisor, training supervisor and state division commercial supervisor. He served in Milwaukee as district commercial supervisor and division commercial supervisor before becoming division commercial personnel supervisor.

During World War II, he worked for the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone company at Washington, D. C., in a liaison assignment with the government. In 1952, he was transferred to Milwaukee.

He was a native of Kaukauna and a graduate of the University of Wisconsin. He was born Jan. 7, 1907, in Appleton.

Funeral services will be at 9 a.m. Tuesday at St. Mary's Catholic church, Appleton. Burial will be in the parish cemetery. Friends may call at the Ellenbecker Funeral home after 6 p.m. today. The rosary will be recited at 7:30 p.m. today.

He is survived by his widow; his mother, Mrs. Katherine Wiggins, Appleton, and one brother, Marvin, Milwaukee.

Planners Deny Rezoning for Office Building

Doubt if Lot at Memorial, Lawrence Is Big Enough

The city planning commission today denied a request to rezone the southeast corner of Memorial drive and Lawrence street for construction of a Prudential Life Insurance company office.

Aldermen will vote on the decision at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday at city hall.

The Garvey Agency sought the rezoning—from multiple family to commercial and light manufacturing district—and presented a supporting petition signed by neighbors.

Might Lose Office

Opponents were Mrs. John Kasper, 212 S. Memorial drive; Mrs. George Puth, 625 W. Lawrence street; six other property owners and Ald. R. P. Groh.

Eugene and Richard Garvey told the commission that the three other corners at the intersection are zoned for business, that an adjacent lot is being used for commercial purposes but is in non-conforming use, that property values will not be depreciated by the move, that Prudential is agreeable to a setback restriction on Memorial drive and that Appleton will be deprived of Prudential's largest district office in the country if it doesn't find a suitable place in Appleton to build.

Groh said the rezoning would invade rights of adjacent property owners who are in residential district and that mention of a tall apartment house by the Garveys as an alternative was a threat.

Commissioners said they doubt the Prudential would be able to get a 3,600-square-foot building on the 90.3 by 90.3-foot lot and still maintain setbacks the commission would require on both streets or be able to preserve trees which the Garveys said was the company aim.

Byrnes Has Talk With Belgian King

BY FRANCIS MCKUSICK
Post-Crescent Washington Bureau

William Selle

Washington — Rep. John W. Byrnes, Green Bay, and Mrs. Byrnes were honored last week as part of a small group of congressional guests invited by Vice President and Mrs. Nixon to a formal dinner in honor of young King Baudouin of Belgium.

Although Baudouin did not chat at length with any of his guests, Rep. Byrnes was able to tell him a little of the "fine contribution to their communities, state and nation" Belgians in his district have made since they came to Wisconsin to live.

"These people have made very good citizens," the congressman told the king.

Byrnes reported that Baudouin "seemed delighted, and very much interested" in the reports on the Belgian settlements.

Books About Russia New At Library

Two authors join the flood of writers in putting down their views of our cold war counterpart, Russia, in new books at the Appleton Public Library.

Your Problems

15-Year-Old 'Man Shy'—She's No Gazelle on Dance Floor

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm 15 and I just decided to be an old maid. If men aren't any better than boys I don't want anything to do with them—ever.

I've been to three high school mixers this year and I'll never to another one as long as I live. The big problem is there's always a fight about who's going to dance with me. Nobody wants to.

I admit I'm not a very good dancer but I try my best. I just don't feel any rhythm. At the mixer last night one boy actually yelled "HELP!" to his buddy in the stag line. Even then the buddy wouldn't take me off his hands. I plain wanted to die.

Why should dancing be so important anyway? Please tell me what to do. Right now I'm the most miserable girl in town.—Washout

Dear Washout: I assume you've practiced dancing at home and that you STILL have two left legs. If so, develop a sense of humor about it. Tell a fellow pronto you're no Marge Champion and that if he'd rather sit and talk, you're willing.

Remember that most fellows are pretty clumsy on the floor themselves but THEY get away with it because they do the asking. A gal can't say "no" when it's perfectly obvious she isn't doing anything else.

There's more to life than cutting a rug with a real gone cat. If a guy gives you the freeze because you're a bore on the floor it means his brains are in his feet—and who needs him?

DEAR ANN: I've been married 19 years to a man who has no respect for me in front of friends. When we're alone

Your husband is enormously insecure. He knows he's behaving badly and he's sorry, but he's unable to tell you. He's also aware this puts him in a shoddy light but still he can't control it.

Married couples who compete for the center of the stage are a sad sight. The mate who realizes that his or her partner needs ego-bolstering and is content to sit back and let that partner shimmer and shine, is the real star.

Great Lakes Hadassah Parley Israel's World Message That of Young Nation Founded on Self-Help

Israel's message to the world today is that of a young nation which has found a new democratic pattern of self-help. Hadassah members were told Sunday night by Middle East expert, Ben-Zion Emanuel.

Emanuel addressed more than 200 delegates and guests attending the 10th annual Hadassah Great Lakes Regional parley which is meeting here Sunday and Monday at the Appleton Elks club. The speaker, midwest director of the American Zionist council, spoke on "Israel in the Changing World Arena" for the dinner program.

Eyes of other young nations in Asia and Africa are focused on Israel. Emmanuel told banquet guests. Self-help and mutual aid is Israel's answer to Communism with the Soviets becoming increasingly annoyed at Israel's leadership.

Since the founding of Israel 11 years ago, world conditions have greatly changed its status in the world community, stated Emanuel. Atomic warfare, the rise of red China, the breakthrough of Soviet powers in all parts of the world, including the Arab nations, have spotlighted Israel, making the country almost a pawn in a death struggle between East and West.

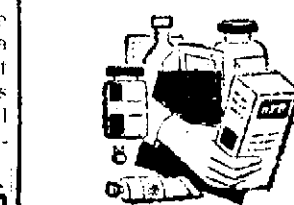

"There has been a great change in world Jewry too, since 1948," he pointed out. Zionism was then a great movement of unity, today there are arresting voices of disunity questioning if Zionism has outlived its function.

Israel has seen a vast shift in world support in its first decade. The Soviets supported Israel in the partition fight in 1947 because they wanted to diminish England's hold on the Middle East.

But in 1951, the speaker continued, the Russians reversed their position and revealed their traditional course of violent opposition to Zionism and Israel.

"The Soviet and Israeli clash is a clash of ideologies," observed Emanuel. "Communism is a collectivism of coercion while Israeli Zionism is a collectivism of conscience."

"Oil interests. The success of Israeli communal life bothers the Russians tremendously," he said. "For if it succeeds, the voluntary program demonstrates to the world that the

In Good Taste Hostess Indifferent To Guests

BY EMILY POST

Dear Mrs. Post: I play cards once a week with five other women friends. When we play at one particular house, the hostess never bothers to dress. That is, she always wears a house coat and house shoes instead of a dress, and not too infrequently she has her hair up in bobby pins. She has remarked several times that as long as she is home she might as well be comfortable. I think this is in bad taste and very unflattering to her guests in that she doesn't think them important enough to dress for. What is your opinion of this?

Answer: I agree with you that her not taking the trouble to dress for you is in very bad taste.

Eating Parsley

Dear Mrs. Post: In order to settle an argument, will you please tell me when a piece of parsley is served on the plate with the food, may this be eaten, or is it merely for decoration purposes?

Answer: It is intended for decoration, but it is not improper to eat it if you would like to.

Culbertson on Bridge

By Ely Culbertson

It is a significant and sad commentary on the present bidding style of hundreds of experts — to say nothing of their thousands of followers — that none of these players would get to the proper (and the only makable) game contract on the North-South hands below.

South dealer.

This was the auction at rubber bridge in a prominent New York club:

South West North East
1 D Pass 1 H Pass
1 N T Pass 3 N T Pass

It would also be the auction at countless other bridge tables throughout the country — and the result would be no more favorable than it was, assuming only reasonable defense on the part of the East-West pair. With West opening a club, and correctly discarding hearts if declarer runs off his four spade tricks, only eight tricks can be taken by South.

The crux is that a much better contract is available to North-South, namely, four spades. That contract cannot be reached, however, when North, under the bidding style in reference, must respond to the diamond opening with his lower-ranking major suit. The theory back of this is that the heart bid leaves the spade suit open for South if he can name it, but there is one glaring flaw in this theory: it assumes that the spade suit can't be the right contract unless South has four cards in the suit. The fact of the matter is quite different. The deal at issue is not isolated case. Hands come up constantly in which a game at a major suit with only four trumps in one hand and three in the other, has a far better chance than three no trump or five-odd in a minor.

The truth is that "old-fashioned" bidding is best for such situations. North should respond first in spades, and should show his heart suit whether or not his partner then bids the no trump. Once North has bid this way, South will not be too at ease concerning the club suit, and so will support spades. Then it will be up to North to realize that despite his four-card suit, spades will be safer than no trump.

Flowers in Art Form. Fashion Sewing contest and Safety contest awards also will be given.

Delegates from the Appleton club which will attend the conclave are Mrs. H. J. Well-er, new president; Mrs. Norman Wetzel and Mrs. O. R. Busch.

HEALTH QUERIES ANSWERED

By J. A. FANNECK, Chiropractor

115 E. College Ave., Appleton
Many people have tried many things to regain their health and have failed in vain for a long period of time, eventually tried Chiropractic. They found Chiropractic the answer to their health problems. It was in their spine.

D. D. Palmer, the discoverer of Chiropractic, found a segment of the spine out of place and with an understanding of the spine, he replaced this segment that restored health to Harvey Lillard in 1895. Since that time millions of people have obtained Health, even when some didn't think it could be done, it was accomplished.

Is Chiropractic good for this or that? Our answer is, it is good for all conditions that are caused by the spine being out of line causing pressure on the many entering and emerging nerves.

Headaches can be caused by vertebrae out of line, so can a sore throat. All of the nerves coming out of the little windows (openings) of the spine should be free. When the spine changes its position the windows are partially closed. Just think for a moment that the nerves in the mid portion of the neck supply your diaphragm and aids in breathing, the nerves in the upper shoulder region affect both your lungs, heart and etc. on down the spine. Some day you will know that people who take care of their spines are really the healthy ones.

Study Comes as Total Taxes Hit $773 Million

BY JOHN WYNGAARD
Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison—The state tax impact study sponsored by Gov. Nelson, intended to devise feasible means of grafting new revenue sources onto the existing tax machinery of Wisconsin state and local governments, comes at a time of heavily accelerated yields from present taxes upon the people and business organizations.

Last year the yield of the state and its local subdivisions through taxation rose to the unparalleled total of $773,000,000, which represented more than a doubling of tax payments during a decade.

Some of the gain was scored through inflation because as wages and corporation returns increase the progressivity of the income tax tables brings in tax dollars in higher volume.

The basic reason for the current tax impact and incidence investigation, one of the most elaborate undertaken in recent years and one the tax code to provide some that will borrow generously relief for local tax structures from similar investigations in notably the general property, other states, is the conviction tax which is the basic support of Wisconsin local government.

Nearly half of the $773 million yielded by state and local taxes last year was extracted from the owners of general property — real and personal.

'No New Tax'

The next highest total came from individual income taxpayers, or $114,000,000. Other important revenue sources include the corporation income tax for about $54,000,000 last year, state motor vehicle taxes for about $106,000,000, special sales taxes of various kinds for nearly $40,000,000, occupational and license taxes for about $33,000,000 and public utility taxes for about $32,000,000.

The late Paul Reynolds, once a state tax administrator but more widely known for his long direction of the Wisconsin Taxpayers Alliance, a private research group, had a pet grievance. He used to object vociferously whenever a newspaperman or a legislator about "a new tax." His point was that there are no new taxes, virtually every impost in use in this country has been known for centuries of civilized government and widely used.

Prof. Harold Groves of the University of Wisconsin, chairman of the governor's tax investigation panel, recently proved the point when he publicly disclosed the alternative tax systems that the committee is testing for their feasibility and equity as additions or modifications or alternatives for present tax laws.

Support Doubtful

None of them is strictly new. All of them have been discussed in this state for years, frequently have been proposed, or are already a part of the state and local tax structure.

Basically the two group alternatives are revisions in the existing pattern of individual income taxation, and the incorporation of a sales tax in some form as an additional source of revenue, or as a means of adjusting some other

The governor has said that the committee will report its conclusions to him and he then will submit the report to a citizens' committee for an intensive study, and ask that committee for a recommendation on him he will convey them to the review committee, not yet session in the late fall with the review committee, will be "broadly his blessings."

Meanwhile tax policy has been shunted aside during the current legislature's deliberations. Although the first year budget of the Nelson administration, not yet certain of enactment in full, is technically out of balance, the governor apparently expects to make good the deficit with the enactment of the revised tax program at the fall session. Most legislators are apparently willing to support the postponement of the politically sensitive tax decisions although there is no assurance whatever that the tax enactments will be easy to achieve with a legislature divided politically between Democrats and Republicans. A compromise program under the circumstances is generally predicted.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain — without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all — this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months.

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this without the use of narcotics, anaesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®) — the discovery of a world famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H®. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H suppositories or Preparation H ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug counters. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

guerres and the distinguished service cross for bravery. She was instrumental in sponsoring the first Parent-Teachers association in the Neenah public schools, was one of the founders of the Neenah Historical society, was a member of the Eastern Star and was one of the early members of the Women's Tuesday club which was organized more than 70 years ago.

She also was one of the organizers of the Young Women's club, a predecessor to the present YWCA in which she continued her interest. From the time she cast her first ballot in 1920 from a hospital bed, Mrs. Barnett never missed a chance to vote. When at the age of 93 she was forced to use absentee ballots rather than personal trips to the polls, it was with a regret.

Staunch Republican
"I vote because I believe we live in the best country there is," she said at one time in explaining why she never missed an election. As for people who stay away from the polls because of rain or a club meeting, she thought the privilege of voting should be taken away from them.

Mrs. Barnett was a staunch Republican and an avid reader of the newspapers, magazine and books, even in her late years.

She was the widow of the late Maurice E. Barnett, founder of the Barnett Pharmacy and a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Krueger, founder of the hardware store which bears his name.

Services Tuesday

Macs Launch League Slate At Appleton

Seek 2nd Victory After Exhibition Win Over Truckers

Menasha — Dethroned by Little Chute - Kimberly as champion of the Fox River Valley Baseball League last season, the Menasha Macs will begin the 1959 title race Sunday afternoon at Appleton against Valley Fair. The Menashans got their actual season off to a start last Sunday with a 6-1 exhibition win over Clintonville. Making his debut in Valley League play will be Manager Ron Gall, who takes over for "Butch" Konetzke. The roster contains most of the players who carried the Twin Cities to the runnerup spot in both league and tournament play a year ago.

Jim Meyer, who pitched some tournament ball for the Menashans in previous seasons, is expected to be the starting pitcher at Appleton with Don Gosz the catcher. Meyer hurled a 3-hitter against Clintonville.

Other pitchers are Jack and Ken Konetzke, Gene Gries and Vic Stenson still are attending college. Mort Drury, stalwart hurler the last couple of years, is in service and Tom Balzhazar, who has been placed on the roster, is still pitching for St. Mary High school.

Others on the roster are Clem Massey, Jim Haack, Gall, Darold Eggert, Bernie Konetzke, John Chapleau, Dick Frank, Tom Konetzke, Carl Springer, "Butch" Konetzke, Greg Ropella, Bob Karisny, Bob Miller, Ken Lambie, Bill Bone and Bill Gamme.

The Macs downed Valley Fair 13-5 in last year's only meeting. The second game was postponed and never rescheduled.

Twin City Stars Do Well in Prep, College Events

Neenah — Twin City athletes competing for state and midwest prep and college spring sports squads did well in weekend meet action.

Menasha's Fred Plom, playing for Wayland academy, defeated Gary VanWagenen 6-3, 6-3 as the Beaver Dam preps bested Milwaukee Country Day 3-2 in a tennis match.

Tom Hyde of Menasha, a sophomore at the University of Iowa, was the leadoff man on the Hawkeye mile relay team which won its event in a quadrangular involving Minnesota, Iowa, Wisconsin and Northwestern. Minnesota won the meet with Iowa second.

Hector Fischer of Neenah ran a 2:00.8 in the 880 as La Crosse State lost to the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee.

Ralph Spring of Neenah won the discus with a throw of 124 feet, 2 1/2 inches in Oshkosh State's triangular win over Stevens Point and Whitewater.

Bob Osiewalski, Menasha, and Ripon college tied the Midwest conference high hurdles mark but was third in the finals in that league's meet.

NHS Athletes Establish 3 School Records on Way to League Crown

Neenah — Neenah athletes set three new school records in Saturday's Mid-Eastern conference meet. Jerry Schaefer claimed two and Jerry Hensen got the third.

Schaefer set a standard of 20.7 seconds, bettering a mark he made earlier this year, in winning his heat of the low hurdles. It also topped the previous conference mark. He did 15.35, topping his previous best of 15.4, in winning a high hurdles trial.

Hensen went 11 feet, 7 inches to win the pole vault, besting by a quarter of an inch the mark established by Fred Seggelink last year.

The Rockets took the undisputed lead after the low hurdles, the 13th event. Both Kimberly and Neenah had 40 points but Neenah got seven on a second and third to the Papermakers' six on a first and fifth in the obstacle race.

But in the sprint relay Kimberly only got a fourth in its heat, which wasn't good enough to place in the final top five. Neenah needed a fifth to win and it gained a tie for third for five points. Had the Rockets been blanked in the relay, Menasha would have won 48 to 47. Going into the last event, the Jays, Rockets, Kimberly and Two Rivers all had a chance for the championship.

New London lost all of its points when quartermiller Ray Langner, who came home first, was disqualified. Oddly enough it was Langner who scored all the Bulldogs' points the previous two years.

Neenah's best broad jump distance was Jerry Hensen's 19 feet, 11 inches for third.

The top shot puts were 47 feet, 8 inches by Mowry Stulp (third) and Willis Zeinert's 44 feet, 7 1/2 inches (fourth.) Lead-take over fourth and Mary Schmidt and Jack Feavel have 1,185 for fifth.

Other high scores include Jackie Braun - Joe Spilski and Louise and "Curly" Leverenz 1,176. Mary Schmidt - Art Gottschalk 1,172 and Gloria Zimmer-Willie Karnopp 1,167.

Chiff Schults rolled a 270 handicap game and Drucks has a 671 series for high in the individual totals. Mary Lourin and Norm Delvoe of Green Bay posted a 449 team game for the best in that department.

Medals and certificates, son working the meet was presented by Nancy public address announcer Al Jack and Karen Graverson of the Neenah GAA. Dick Jorgensen, son of Athletic Director Ole Jorgensen and a former conference pole vault champion, was clerk of course.

Rockets Cop Meet But Jansen Stars

| Menasha | 48 | Shawano | 155 |
| Kimberly | 46 | Kaukauna | 15 |
| Two Rivers | 38 | New London | 9 |

Neenah — Neenah engineered its fourth straight Mid-Eastern conference crown but it was Kimberly's Darrell Jansen who stole the show by breaking two records and tying a third, in the circuit's 28th annual meet here Saturday afternoon.

The meet was tight all the way and the Rockets needed a fifth in the sprint relay, the final event, to take the crown. They came away with a tie for third and wound up with 52 points, four more than Menasha. Kimberly had 46, Two Rivers 38, Clintonville 265, Shawano 155, Kaukauna 13 and New London went scoreless after its only first place was erased through a disqualification.

But getting back to Jansen, this is what he did:

1. Set a new record of 14.3 in the high hurdles. He actually broke Menasha's Bob Osiewalski's record of 14.8 with 14.5 in the trials and then lowered it again in the finals.
2. Broke the existing low hurdles mark of 21.4, formerly held by Tom Hyde of Menasha, lowering it to 20.5 in the trials.
3. Tied the conference high jump standard of 5 feet, 10 1/2 inches, established by Hoier of New London in 1938.
4. Successfully defended his championships in all three events and won the high and low hurdles crowns for the third straight year and he is still only a junior.

Other boys scoring repeat victories were Ron Haass, Menasha, broad jump (he also won the 220); Jim Quade, Neenah, mile; Wayne Rudolf, Neenah, half mile; and Jerry Hensen, Neenah, pole vault. The other first places went to Emery Panosh, Two Rivers, shot put; his brother, Gene, discus; Guy Booth, Shawano, 440; Jerry Sobiesczyk, Menasha, 100; Menasha, 880 yard relay; and Kimberly, medley relay.

Four Some Disqualified
Neenah's total probably would have been bigger except for a couple of unfortunate incidents. The medley relay team finished first but lost the 10 points when disqualified because of an illegal exchange between the two 220 yard runners and Mike Lintner, who has had the best quarter mile times of anyone in the conference, was cut off going around the first turn, and fell. He finished the race but didn't place.

Ray Langner of New London, who did come home first in the quarter mile, was disqualified, giving the win to Shawano's Booth.

Neenah picked up strength in the mile where Jim Quade won his third straight championship and teammate Paul Poellinger finished second. They did well, too, in the hurdles where Jerry Schaefer and Tom Drews were second and third to Jansen in both events.

Wins Broad Jump
Haass won the 200 quite comfortably but had a little more trouble in the broad jump where he fouled twice in the first four jumps. His winning jump was 20 feet, 11 inches, an inch more than teammate Tom Stepanski.

The shot put finish was as close as any event. Emery Panosh won at 47 feet, 8 inches, just a half inch better than Barry DeLeeuw of Kimberly. Mowry Stulp of Neenah was just a quarter of an inch behind DeLeeuw. Panosh was 31 inches short of his brother Gene in the discus, the latter winning with 130 feet, 3 inches.

Rudolf won the half mile handily in 2:07.2, although he has done better, and Quade's 4:43.6 in the mile was some nine seconds behind his win. ning mark of a year ago. Here the battle was for second where Poellinger came on strong to give the Rockets another four points.

Menasha picked up most of its points in the sprints and road jump. Jerry Sobiesczyk won the 100 in 10.75 and Ron Haass took the 220 in 24 seconds. Stepanski was third in the century and Dave Ristau fourth in the 220.

The relay team, composed of the above four boys, got a first in 1:36.65. The Jays gained nine points on a first and second in the broad jump.

Pole Vault
Hensen was all alone in the pole vault after Joe Bolwerk of Kimberly went out at 11 feet. He finally won at 11.7 feet. Jansen missed three attempts at 6 feet in the high jump. He had three other misses along the way. "Rocky" Jersild of Menasha, who was second, bowed out at 5 feet, 8 inches.

The Kimberly medley relay team got a first after Neenah was disqualified.

The Rocket relay team finished behind the Jays in the first section of the sprint finale but Clintonville, which won the second section, had a better time and got the runner-up spot in the final standings.

The summary:

BY W. L. GORDON

Words often misused: Distinguish between Exceptional aptitude; talent; spirit. (out of the ordinary) and Exceptional (objectionable). Her writings revealed a considerable amount of verve.

Today's word: verve; marking. Thus: "The child's reasoning power is exceptional, although I do find his lack of punctuality objectionable."

Often mispronounced: Access and excess. Accent "ac-cess" on the first syllable, and accent "ex-cess" on the second syllable.

Often misspelled: Granddaughter; observe the two "d's."

Synonyms: Serviceable, helpful, useful, beneficial, advantageous, practical.

Word study: "Use a word three times and it is yours."

Little Chute — The Little Chute-Kimberly Papermakers successfully opened defense of their Fox Valley league baseball title by edging Manitowoc, 4-2, here Sunday afternoon.

Faye Mehlberg flashed mid-season form as he curve-balled his way to a 3-hit triumph. Mehlberg whiffed five and walked only two. One of the two Manty runs was earned. Bill Lutz hurled creditable ball for the losers as he allowed only seven hits, struck out six and walked two. His mates were a big shaky in the field as they committed eight errors. Four of the miscues came in the first inning, all by third baseman Bill Lineau and this gave the Papermakers a 2-0 lead.

Manty counted a tally in the second when a pair of errors and Lineau's single drove North Hecker home. Rog Vander Wylt boosted the margin back to two runs as he slashed a triple to center and scored when the throw-in went astray.

The losers second run scored in the seventh when Hecker slashed a long triple to right and counted on a sacrifice fly by Schuber.

LC-K added an insurance run in the eighth. Ron Weigman drilled a solid single to left, stole second and romped all the way home when the ball went through both the sec-

Versalles' Homer Tips Demons, 5-3

The Fox Cities Foxes open a 9-game home stand with a Ladies Night contest against Sioux City tonight after returning home with a 3-3 break in their second road trip of the season.

A dramatic, 2-out, 2-run home run by Versalles in the top half of the ninth inning Sunday gave the Foxes a 5-3 win over Des Moines to salvage the finale of a 3-game series.

The Demons shaded the Foxes, 7-5, Saturday night after the Foxes had gone ahead with a 3-run eighth inning rally. The loser Saturday was the Foxes' ace left-hander, Dick Griffith (2-2).

Tight All the Way
Sunday night's victory went to big right-hander Willie Jones, who tamed the Demons on a 5-hitter for his first victory. Jones struck out seven and walked five.

The game was tight all the way. The Foxes took a 2-0 lead in the top of the first. Versalles singled (his first of three hits) and Bennie Siquefield thumped a liner to center field which went for a triple, scoring Versalles. Hernan

Versalles Jones

Vila then sliced a single to drive home Siquefield.

Des Moines tied the score in its half of the inning when Cal Emery sliced a liner past first base with runners on second and third.

Bad-Hop Single
Bob Mason hoisted a 3-2 pitch over the left field fence in the fourth to make it 3-2. Came back to tie it in the seventh.

In the ninth, Bill Hubbard poked a bad-hop single off Tom Morgan's chin. Catcher Wayne Lencave sacrificed and Jones fled to center, leaving Hubbard on second.

Then came Versalles' smash. Saturday night, Des Moines was leading, 3-0, when the Fox Cities counted two runs in the last of the fifth. Demons' hurler Ed Radzevich dropped a perfect double play ball.

3 Wild Pitches
The Foxes collected only four safeties until the eighth, when they tallied three runs to go ahead for the first time, 5-4. In that inning, singles by Vila and "Chuck" Weather-ual's hard smash scored one run and put the tying and go-ahead tallies on second and third.

Pinkerton Clocked In Record 4:17.6

Captures Vikes' Only 1st Place In MC Test; Cornell Repeats

Table of Points

Cornell 36 1-5, Beloit 34.
Ripon 30 1-5, Grinnell 16 1-10.
Carleton 23, Monmouth 9.
Lawrence 21, Knox 7 1-5.
St. Olaf 24 1-5, Coe 3.

If Tad Pinkerton, the greatest miler in Lawrence college and Midwest conference history, continues his current rate of progress, he could become potential Olympic time-her by 1960. The sensational Pinkerton, a slender junior from Waupaca, shattered the existing MC record by nearly 5 seconds with a mile run of 4:17.6 during Saturday's conference meet at St. Olaf college (Northfield, Minn.). The now-defunct mark was 4:23.3 by Beloit's Schumacher in 1950.

8.1 Seconds Better
In repeating as MC champion, "Pinks," tore 8.1 seconds off his winning time of 1958. Pinkerton, the only Vike winner Saturday, also established another new school record in the process. The old standard—which he himself set several weeks ago—was 4:20.4.

Cornell, spearheaded by vidual titles in the pole vault and javelin. His top javelin toss was 186-114.

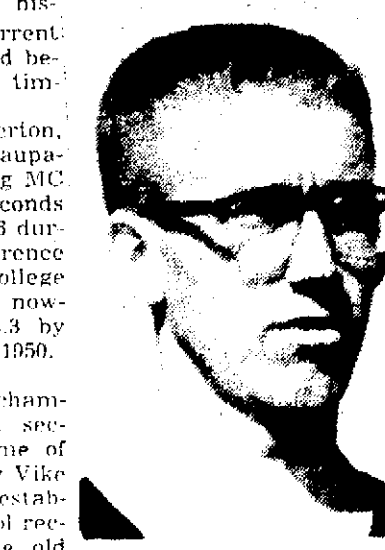

New Record
Dave Mulford, Lawrence's only defending champion other than Pinkerton, set a new school record in the 880-yard run even though he finished second. Mulford chased Cornell's Ron Campbell to a new MC record of 1:55.3. Mulford was officially clocked in 1:55.5.

The old conference mark was 1:56.7, set by Grinnell's Action nine years ago. The old Vike mark of 1:56.8 was set by Mulford in 1958.

Lawrence junior Gil Sutherland moved up a notch with a runnerup spot in the shot put. Last year, he was third.

The "shot" was won by Don Tomczak of Ripon, who for the second straight year set a new record. His 49-foot, 81-

Lew Burdette Uses Only 84 Pitches to Subdue Dodgers; Milwaukee Retains 2 1/2-Lap Lead

By The Associated Press

Henry Aaron, who may become the National league's first 400 hitter in 29 years, must feel like a guy swimming against the tide.

The Milwaukee mauler rapped a home run and single in the Braves' 8-3 victory over Los Angeles Sunday. That gave him a spectacular run of eight consecutive games in which he's made two or more hits. Yet, during that time he's tacked on only one percentage point to an average that now stands at .484.

Loses 16 Points

That's not all. The slugging outfielder has hit safely in each of his last 21 games. Yet, during those three weeks, he's actually lost 16 points. He was batting an even .500 when he started the streak. Hammerin' Hank is in a spot now where his average drops if he collects two hits in five times at bat.

Aaron's homer No. 11 came in the fifth inning, broke a 2-2 tie, and set the stage for the Dodgers' fourth straight defeat. The victory enabled the Braves to retain their 2 1/2-game margin over San Francisco.

Lew Burdette made only 84 pitches in subduing the Dodgers for a 6-2 record. The Milwaukee right-hander permitted eight hits including home runs by Don Demeter and Charlie Neal. Del Crandall had four hits, including a homer.

Demeter's homer came in the second inning and the one by Neal in the eighth.

Covington Singles

The third run for Los Angeles was scored in the fourth inning on singles from the bats of Demeter, Gil Hodges and Don Zimmerman.

Fourteen hits by Milwaukee batters handed Don Drysdale his fifth loss of the season against three victories.

Bill Burton scored the first Milwaukee run after being batted.

103rd Victory

It was the 103rd tournament victory for Snead, including all of note except the one in which he has been runnerup three times.

Snead himself will have to qualify for the open June 11, at Mamaroneck, N.Y. He'll try it in Washington June 1.

His festival, which he has won five out of 12 times, was only the third tournament for Snead this year.

His third round Saturday was one of the greatest of all time in golf and proved he still can make the game appear easy. It took him only 59 strokes on a par-70, 6,317-yard course. Sunday, it was only 63 strokes on the 6,497-yard second course.

The PGA competitive record for 18 holes is 60 and Snead is one of seven holders. The PGA record for 72 holes is 257, held by Sou-chak. The festival here is not PGA sponsored.

Snead Tunes Up For 'Open' With Amazing 259

Adds Tidy 63 to Phenomenal 59 In 'Festival'

White Sulphur Springs, W. Va. — A phenomenal 59 followed by a tidy 63. An 11-stroke victory in his own festival, it may not be too late after all for Slammin' Sam to win that elusive National Open golf championship.

Snead wound up his competitive tuneup for the open Sunday by shooting the lowest 72-hole total score of his 25-year professional career, 259 — 21 under par. It left runner-up Mike Souchak of Grossinger, N.Y., wallowing in his wake by 11 strokes and started up talk again that this may finally be the year for Snead, only nine days away from his 47th birthday, to win the open title.

Cleveland Also Divides to Cling To Half-Game Lead in AL

By the Associated Press

It's time American league home run hitting perennial like Mickey Vernon, Roy Sievers, Jackie Jensen and Rocky Colavito started taking Washington's Harmon Killebrew seriously.

The 22-year-old from Payette, Idaho, smashed two more home runs Sunday as the surprising Senators split a double-header with the second-place Chicago White Sox. That gave him 14 homers in 34 games, three more than runner-up Colavito's 11.

Central Captures Title With 407; Ferrel Paces AHS

It's turning out to be quite a sports spring for Sheboygan Central High school. Last Friday night, the Redmen won the Fox River Valley conference track meet for the first time in history. Saturday, Central disposed of defending champion Green Bay East in the FRVC golf test at South Hills, Fond du Lac.

Appleton High school finished second to the Redmen with a 5-man, 18-hole medal tally of 415—eight strokes behind the Redmen. The finish represents a one-step advance for AHS, which came in third in 1958.

Share the Medal

Central's Don Jeruc and Oshkosh's Don Graska shared the medal with 4-over-par 75. Bob Ferrel was the leading AHS shooter, with a 79.

Team totals behind Central and AHS were: Fond du Lac, 420; North, 430; East, 434; Oshkosh, 441; Manitowoc, 462; and West, 485.

Terror scores, besides Ferrel's, were: Mike Smock and Jim Jensen, 82; John Manier, 83; John Nussbaum, 89.

Saturday, the Terrors play a triangular—on both the varsity and JV levels—against Central and Oshkosh on the Reid Municipal course.

The sectional tournament has been moved up to May 25 from May 30. The Terrors will compete at the Stevens Point Country club with these other schools: Waupaca, Stevens Point, Oshkosh, Ripon, Wisconsin Rapids, Lakeland and Owen-Witchee.

As to the opportunity to qualify for next year's United States Olympic team, he said:

"It's something I'll have to give up. A man must do what's right for himself."

A brother at Bergen Catholic High disclosed that Notre Dame had offered the star sprinter an academic scholarship. He has a 90 plus average in his studies.

19 Spots Still Open in Lineup For 500-Miler

Thomson Wins Pole Position on Speed of 145.908

Indianapolis — Three of the hardest driving veterans of American tracks — Johnny Thomson, Eddie Sachs and Jim Rathmann — will start in the front row of the 43rd 500-mile auto race May 30 at the Indianapolis Motor speedway.

They won the up-front starting positions in weekend trials marred by two spectacular wrecks and the death of driver Jerry Unser from injuries suffered in a crash May 2.

Hits Wall

Tony Bettenhausen of Tinley Park, Ill., twice National Big Car driving champion, hit the wall and overturned Saturday in a practice run and Johnny Tolan of Norwalk, Calif., looped and crashed Sunday in a qualifying run. Neither was injured.

Unser, 26-year-old member of a famous Colorado racing family, died Sunday of complications from burns he suffered in a practice run crash 15 days before.

Unser's death was the 49th from a speedway mishap since the plant opened as a macadam track in 1909. There have been 43 deaths since the 500-miler was started on a new paved track in 1911.

The 14 weekend qualifiers left 19 spots open in the 33-car starting lineup. The 10-mile qualifying record set last year by Dick Rathmann 152—two strokes better than of San Gabriel, Calif., was not that of Carleton's Bud Dock, broken by Thomson, 37-year-old Scot from Boyertown, Pa., led Mike shot-making with a turned in a one-lap (2) mile record of 146.532.

Thomson's average speed to win the pole position, in the front row, was 145.908, a watch tick under Dick Rathmann's 145.974 record. Sachs, Center Valley, Pa., tavern operator, was clocked at 145.425 and Jim Rathmann, Dick's brother from Miami, at 144.433.

Clintonville High Shades Two Rivers

Two Rivers — Clintonville High school pocketed an 8-5 Mid-Eastern conference baseball victory over Two Rivers here Saturday morning, scoring three runs in the top of the eighth.

The winning pitcher was Bennett who finished on the mound. Two Rivers led, 2-0, after one inning. The game was tied at 3-3 at the end of the seventh. "Fritz" Koeser and Todd Kesley pitched for Two Rivers. Kesley taking the loss.

The victory was the third in seven M-E starts for the Trunkers and concluded Clintonville's loop season. Two all three games and still clinch the championship if Illinois (4), should lose one of its last three.

Wins Preakness

Royal Orbit to Enter Peter Pan One Week Before the Belmont

Baltimore — His ban-diers insist Royal Orbit is still growing and improving, but horsemen conditioning other 3-year-olds are convinced the flashy Preakness winner is already big and good enough.

"Shucks," scoffed groom Pete Kovar shortly before Royal Orbit left by plane Sunday for Belmont. "This horse is just coming to himself."

Less than 24 hours earlier, Kovar and 31 others, bug-eyed witnesses at Pimlico watched the strapping chestnut streak to a 4-length triumph over 10 of the classiest members of his division.

Circling the entire field, June 13.

The performance was worth $136,200 for Mrs. Halma Braunstein, his owner, who took the biggest slice of the $100,000 million-highest ever offered for 3-year-old runners.

Trainer Reggie Cornell said the colt will carry his blazing siles in the mile-and-a-half Peter Pan one week before running in mule-and-a-half Belmont on Oct. 13.

Corps of Engineers Starts Action on Revising Shoreline

Objections to the park board's proposal to revise the Bellaire park shoreline along the Fox river will be received by the federal corps of engineers through Thursday, May 28.

The corps last week acknowledged the petition of the board for permission to extend the shoreline. The board has been attempting, through City Atty. J. W. Wright, to get federal approval since December.

Plans call for concrete fill topped with dirt, about 1,750,000 feet of shoreline between the properties of John Reeve, 212 39.00; choice 32.00-36.00; top N. Green Bay road, and Bruce B. Purdy, 115 N. Green Bay, A 30.00; standard grades 28.00-rip rap wall, about six feet high and three feet wide, will hold the fill in place. The dis-tance from the present shore-line into which the fill will be placed varies to as much as 60 feet.

Tobacco Issues Lose Ground on New York Exchange

New York — Tobacco slumped while gold shares continued to advance in a mixed stock market early this afternoon.

Gains and losses of fractions to about a point prevailed among most leading stocks. Tobaccos fell 3 or 4 points on Wall Street talk of another report linking cigarette smoking with lung cancer.

American Tobacco was down around 3, Lorillard more than 2.

Gains of well over a point were posted for Homestake, Dome Mines and McIntyre Porcupine.

Raytheon was up more than a point following news it was planning "sky stations" to hover above the earth.

Chrysler ex-dividend rose more than a point as it paced General Motors and Ford which gained fractionally.

U. S. Steel gained more than a point while Bethlehem and Republic Steel edged ahead.

U. S. government bonds were mixed to slightly lower.
